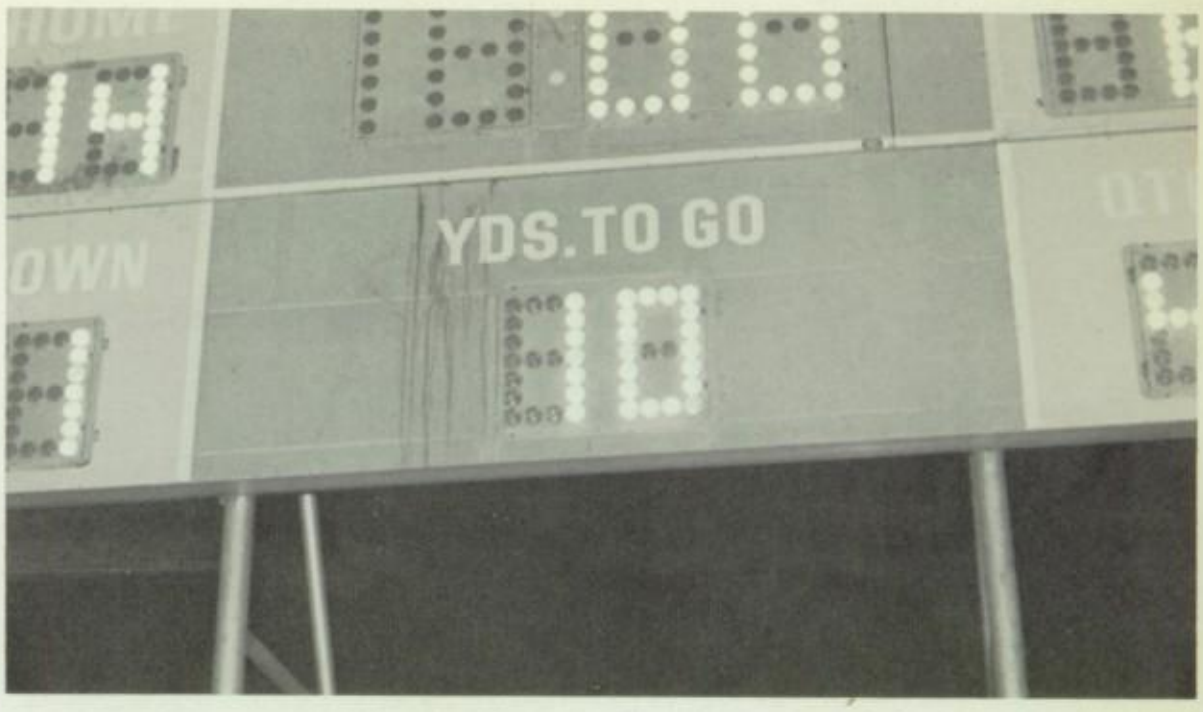
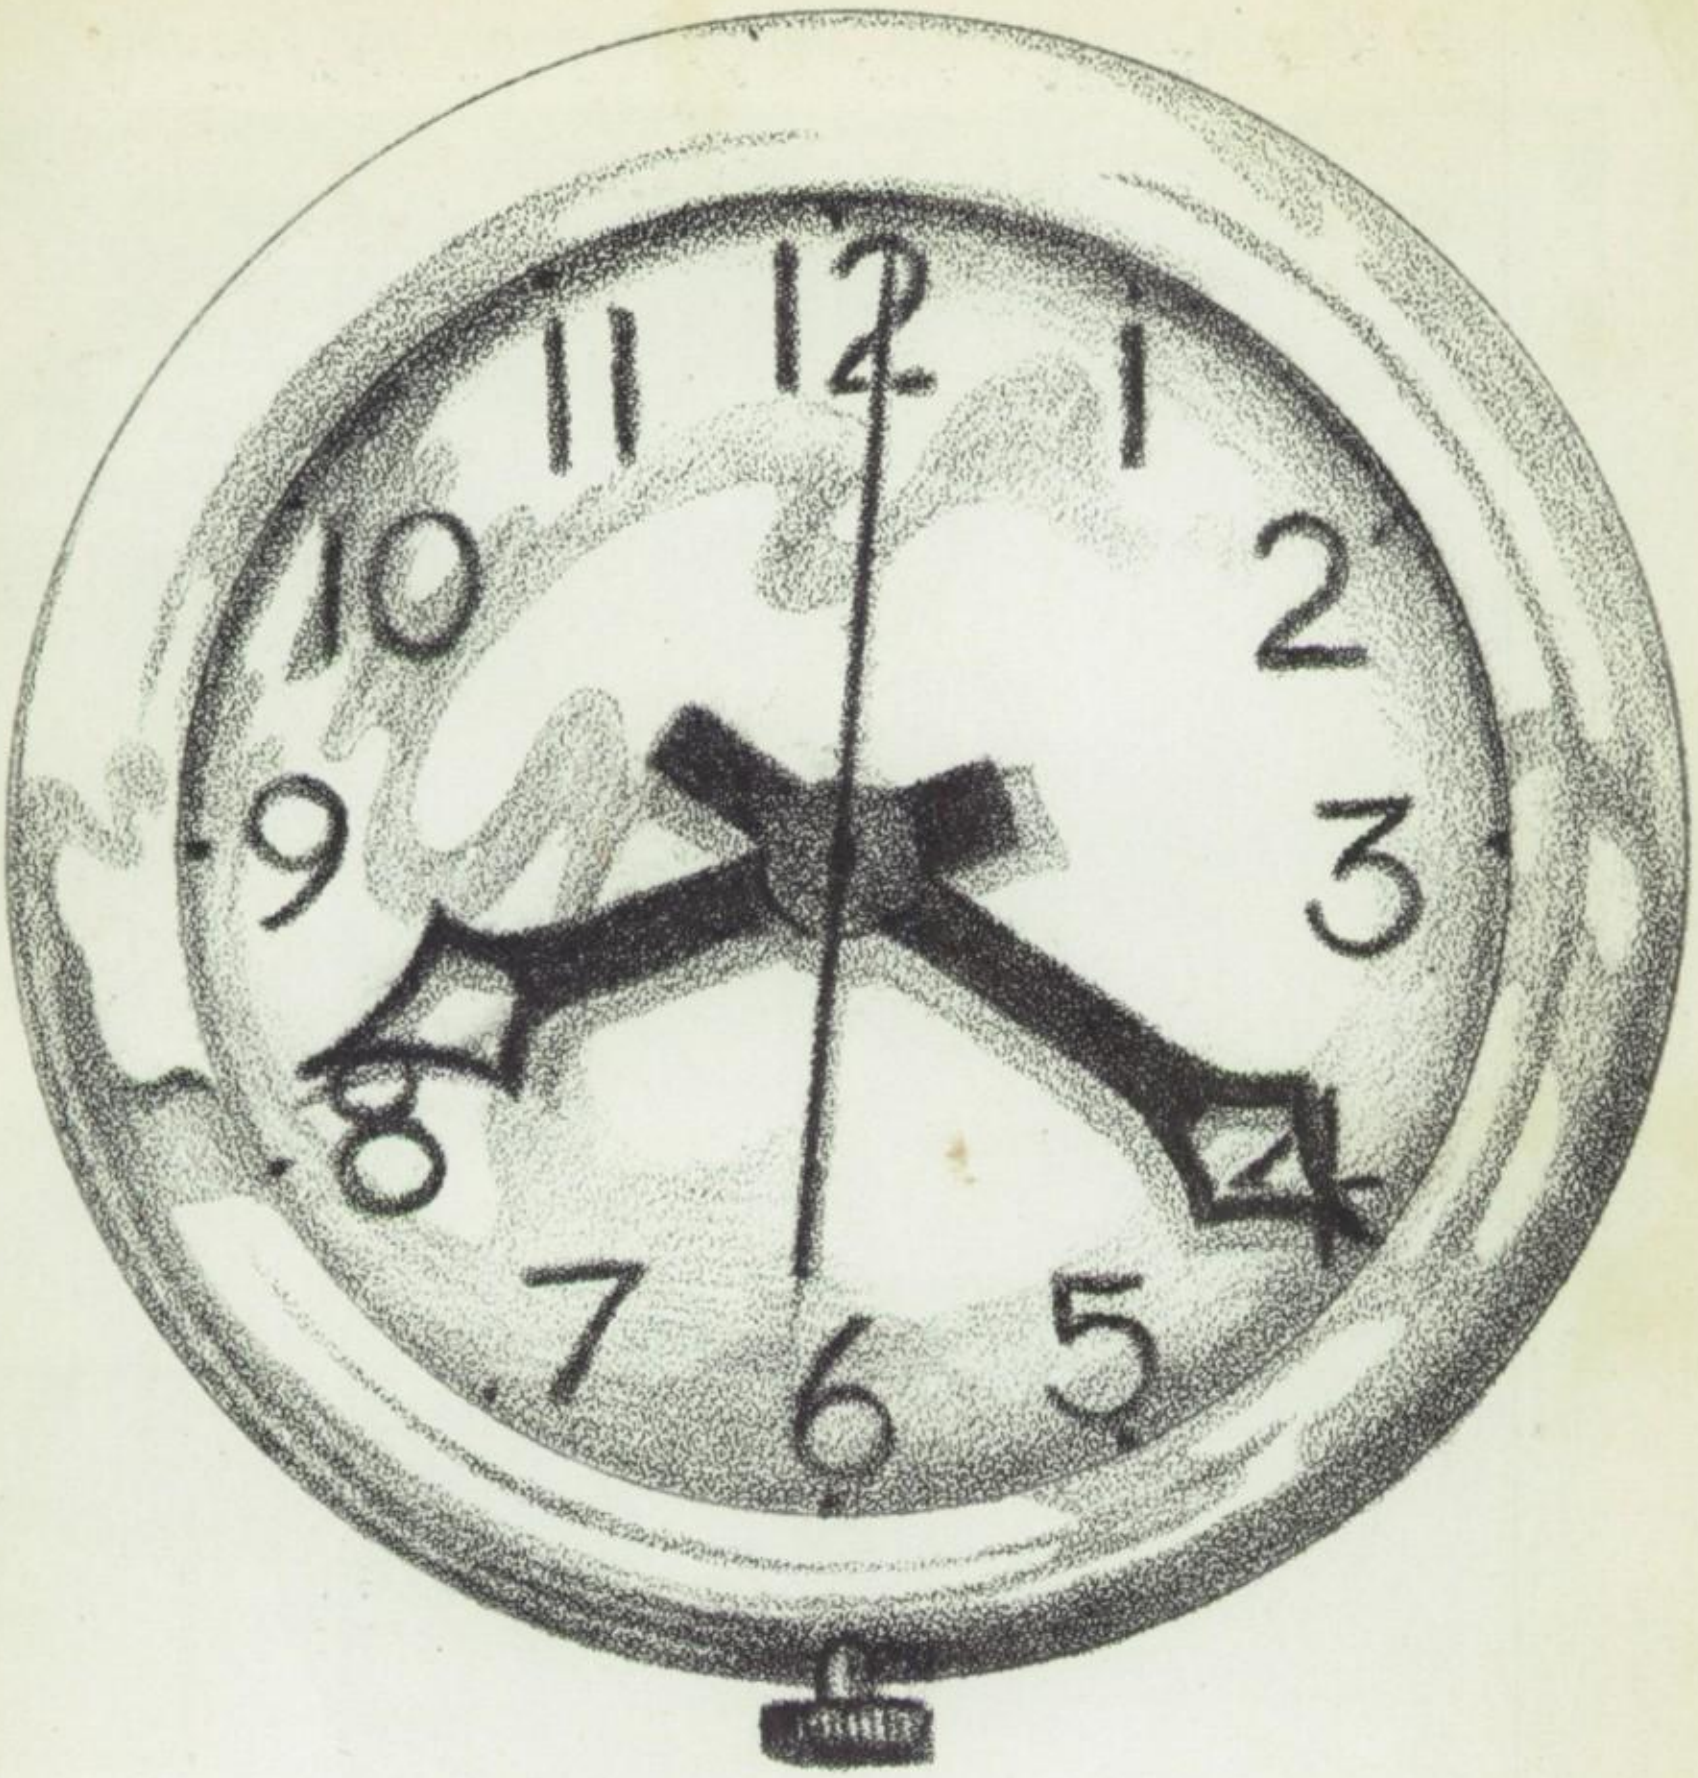
Spirit was created five stylish ways - Juniors wear it, Mr. Lewis clowns with it, Senior boys ham it up, Eric breaks it up, and finally we burned it up.

L.C. students demonstrate the spirit of working, resting and playing. The Spirit of L.C. lives on the football field and gym, in the halls and classrooms, and in the hearts of every student - even those new to our campus.

What is Spirit? Spirit is . . . the most beautiful scoreboard of the year, black and gold in the halls for homecoming, harmony between brothers and sisters, the attitude of the senior football captains, and an outstanding accomplishment by the Lion Band!





Administration

School Board Continues to Serve Students and Faculty

Mr. Barnett Supervises School Activities

One of the best friends of Leverett's Chapel is its superintendent, James Barnett. Each day of his seventeen years spent at L.C. has brought new challenges and opportunities. Mr. Barnett is a familiar figure to L.C. students because he finds the time to chat with them in the halls and even to sample the cafeteria food.

A new addition this year to Mr. Barnett's office is Mrs. Cathie Deason, secretary. Mrs. Deason has had a longstanding attachment to L.C. through her children as former students and her husband as a former teacher and coach. We welcome Mrs. Deason to our school.

Service Keynotes Administrative Role

Included among L.C.'s spirit booster is our high school principal, Jimmy Killion. Mr. Killion's job is not an easy one, but he performs his duties with competence. Although his duties range from maintaining order and discipline to changing the bell system, he always has time to take a personal interest in the students.

An important member of the administration is secretary, Mrs. Gettys Propes. Mrs. Propes has been an essential part of L.C. for twenty five years. We appreciate Mrs. Propes for her ability and her interest.

Elementary principal, Joe Hogue, is respected for his loyalty and devotion to his teachers and students. Mr. Hogue is a well-known figure in the elementary halls and shows his care and concern in numerous ways.

Best wishes
Joe J. Hogue
